

Slope Area Retired Teachers Association

With the planning and activities of the NDRTA convention finished, the Slope Area Retired Teachers are resuming their programs of information and entertainment. Speakers have presented programs ranging from information about the variety of services available from therapists to the history and collecting of Department 56 villages. Besides having a holiday party of music and games, members will again read and judge Christmas writings submitted to The Dickinson Press. The Press then traditionally provides the lunch for the next meeting.
